

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Short Man Lover's Debut Becomes Amazon Best Seller

Fairfax Station, VA, April 2nd, 2012 – If you think there is nothing funny about being middle-aged, think again. As a reflection of the evolving tastes and humor of our growing baby boomer generation, I Was In Love With a Short Man Once – the debut book from local author Kimberly “Kimba” Dalferes, has become an Amazon Best Seller.

“I’m thrilled that my book is finding an audience” said the author. “I hope the readers are enjoying my observations from the middle-aged cheap seats.”

This entertaining essay collection is written from the perspective of a crazy, southern Irish gal. Readers follow her as she reflects on: growing up as a child of limited means in South Florida; managing a self-financed college education; balancing work as a federal official with the joys of single motherhood; and navigating the amusing challenges of being a second-time-around wife.

The author appears regularly at events in the DC-VA-MD area and as a radio interview guest. For example, this coming Wednesday, April 4th, at 5:30 pm EDT she will be interviewed on the Scorpion Equinox Radio Show

Dalferes is hopeful that an upcoming summer book promotion will appeal to an array of readers. “When considering what to pack in your summer beach bag,” she noted, “I hope you’ll toss in I Was In Love With a Short Man Once along with your SPF 50 sunscreen and your favorite cocktail mix.”
